ANY DAY A FISH DAY

A Message From the Premier of Alberta

The campaign now under way to stimulate the consumption of fish is a worthy one. We in Alberta are as anxious to see the fish producing provinces of the Maritimes and British Columbia find a market for their fish as we are ourselves concerned in obtaining a good market for our wheat, beef and coal.

In addition to the large quantities of good beef and other meat products produced in Alberta, we have in this province a small quantity of the finest fish in Canada. I am always happy to extend my best wishes to any program which encourages the consumption of our own home products.

On Tuesday evening a letter was read from the originator of the festival, Rev. W. T. Young, of Edmonton, expressing regret at being unable to attend the 1936 festival, but wishing the festival all success. Twelve years ago Mr. Young conceived the idea and was instrumental in organizing what was then known as the Crow's Nest Pass Sunday Schools Festival. Letters were also received from Mr. and Mrs. D. G. MacKenzie, Calgary, and Mrs. S. G. Bannan, Spokane. Mr. and Mrs. MacKenzie and Rev. W. T. Young are honorary vice-presidents and honorary president, respectively.

MRS. HOBREGS PASSES

Another Blairmore pioneer, in the person of Mrs. Houbregs, beloved wife of Louis Houbregs, passed away at hospital at Calgary in the early hours of Wednesday, following an illness of a few months. The remains were brought to Blairmore last night, and interment will take place at 2.30 on Sunday afternoon.

For many years Mr. and Mrs. Houbregs have resided in Blairmore, where they have won the highest respect of all with whom they came in contact. At the time of her death, Mr. Houbregs was also seeking medical advice at Calgary. He accompanied the remains to Blairmore.

Mrs. Houbregs is survived by her husband, Louis; two sons, Jollett at Seattle, and Philip at home; four daughters, Mrs. Wheatley, of Trail; Mrs. A. Gentile, of Coleman; Mrs. George Patterson, of Blairmore; and Miss Minnie Houbregs, of Lethbridge. Deceased was born in Belgium, where one brother and two sisters survive.

PLENTY OF MACDONALDS

Stuart McCawley, in the Sydney Post-Recorder, illustrates how plentiful the MacDonalds are in Cape Breton, and how nicknames are resorted to, that they may be distinguished individually and classified otherwise. Mr. McCawley gives the following list: "Nip was a MacDonald whose father was strong on temperance, but who if coaxed would say: 'I'll take a nip.'"

In one town alone are twenty or more MacDonalds tagged with nicknames. There are:

"Little Sandy" MacDonalds, "Dan Spud" MacDonalds, "The Conqueror" MacDonalds, "Hugh's Sons" MacDonalds, "The Nonsense" MacDonalds, "The Sputrek" MacDonalds, "The Barn" MacDonalds, "Red Norman" MacDonalds, "The Snakes" MacDonalds, "Big Archy" MacDonalds, "Cape North" MacDonalds, "The Hunters" MacDonalds and "The Kenny Storey" MacDonalds.

All these are great MacDonalds in civic achievement, in war record and in manliness, says this authority.

Word was received at Lundbreck on Friday morning last of the death of Max Horley at Seattle. He was a geologist for the Maxmont oil fields and was well known in Southern Alberta. He left Lundbreck three weeks ago and had an appendectomy operation. He had been a resident of Lundbreck since the Maxmont began drilling two years ago.

Rev. E. G. Hansell, M.P., addressing a Stately gathering, stated: "What things are easy? All of us know that the fight against international finance is not easy; but did we know that there isn't an easier thing in the world than for Alberta to issue dividends; but it hasn't been done yet because one of the hardest things in the world is to make people accept it."

This week the Kimberley district band visits Blairmore, at which point it will compete in the musical festival. The band includes several from Chapman Camp, and will be out to maintain the excellent reputation it has made in previous trips to the Crow's Nest Pass. One of the really big assets of the town, the band, will have the moral support of the entire community.—Kimberley Courier.

The Norwegian-American Line freighter Consul Corfitzon sailed from Little Narrows, Bras d'Or Lakes, N.S., on November the 3rd with the first gypsum shipment direct to Europe from Cape Breton. J. M. Windsor, manager of the Royal Bank branch at High River, and formerly of Blairmore, recently addressed the Rotary at High River, giving a fresh angle of banking policies and standards. After giving a short review of the progress and development of the Royal Bank, with which he has been associated for 34 years, he dealt with current criticisms directed at bank and spoke of the financial situation from a local standpoint.

Referring to the progress of the Royal and other banking institutions in Canada, he attributed the progress mainly (1) to the pronounced and steady development of Canada as a whole since Confederation, and particularly since 1896, with a willingness on the part of banks to keep pace with development; (2) Amalgamation with other banks, which, however, involves not only the taking over of assets by the purchasing bank, but also the assuming of liabilities; (3) efficient management. Contrary to general belief, the Board of Directors of the Royal, and in fact all banks, is selected from all sections of the Dominion. It has always been a bank policy to select its executive from the ranks. Natural ability, application and devotion to duty are primary requisites in promotion.—High River Times.

KING EDWARD IS PLANNING A VISIT TO CANADA SOON

King Edward VIII. is planning a visit to Canada soon after his coronation next May. Prime Minister King indicated as he came back from a European visit.

The prime minister said the King was looking forward to a visit to Canada as soon as possible after his trip to India, planned for almost immediately after the May coronation.

Mr. King said no more about the Monarch's proposed visit to the Dominion. It was the first official indication King Edward expected to visit this country next year.

King Edward's trip will mark the first time in history a reigning British monarch has visited Canada. He has travelled through the Dominion a number of times, but before he came to the throne.

His father, King George V., also visited Canada, but prior to his accession.

King Edward's visit to India, preceding the journey to Canada, will be for the purpose of being crowned Emperor of India. A ceremonial Durbar will see him vested as ruler of India's millions.

King Edward will be making his fifth visit to Canada when he travels to the Dominion after his coronation next May. He made an official visit in 1919 when, as Prince of Wales, he travelled from coast to coast. He came again in 1923 and 1924 and 1927 on unofficial trips.

As a quiet young man of 25 he landed at Halifax on his first visit and immediately captured the hearts of the Canadian people. Thousands of persons cheered him.

A strike was in progress in the mining district of northern Ontario at the time and his stay ended in it would be safer for him not to visit certain districts. When the Prince found this out he insisted on touring the Porcupine mining country.

The result was the residents gave him a roaring welcome. At Timmins a streamer of hunting straddled a great square outside the station bearing the legend: "This is your town; paint it red or any dam color you like."

In hardly less boisterous fashion the rest of the Dominion greeted him everywhere he went. Crowds came to stare at the King's son who was scarcely known to them and remained to cheer him to the echo. Everywhere the Prince danced, played golf and won the devotion of Canadians.

He was in Canada again in 1923 as the Earl of Renfrew to visit his ranch, the K.P. ranch in Alberta; in the summer of 1924 he made another unofficial visit to the Dominion and the United States. The Prince was in Canada again in 1927. That year he accompanied Stanley Baldwin, then as now prime minister of the United Kingdom, on part of the prime minister's tour of the Dominion.

Miners Fatally Injured

Three Men Fall Down Shaft At Kirkland Lake Mine

Kirkland Lake, Ont.—Three men who fell 200 feet from a staging of a shaft in Lake Shore mine were fatally injured. The three were George Cadman, Bert Peterson and Charles Dooda. The men were working by themselves on the raise in the new No. 6 shaft when the accident happened.

Cadman was well known in football circles here and had been prominent in athletics at Cobalt before coming here. Further particulars of the tragedy were not immediately available.

Canada's Trade With Java

Has Been Increasing Steadily For Last Five Years

Windsor, Ont.—Trade between Canada and Java, the world's most densely populated country, has increased every year since 1931. Richard P. Bower, Canadian trade commissioner at Batavia, capital of Java, for three and one-half years, said during a brief visit here. Mr. Bower said only Japan and a couple of other nations have enjoyed similar conditions with the tropical island just south of the equator in the Dutch East Indies.

Boy's Gang Broken Up

Winnipeg.—A police raid in a north-end shack broke up what was believed a boy bandit gang responsible for numerous robberies here. Loot worth $1,500 was recovered and five juveniles taken into custody.

Pleased With Results

Europe Expresses Approval Of Re-election Of Roosevelt

London.—In Europe, in the Far East and in South America, re-election of Franklin D. Roosevelt as president of the United States was applauded with few dissenting voices.

London newspapers devoted major front page space to news of President Roosevelt's "sweeping victory." The Daily Express exclaimed: "Roosevelt, we think you're grand, Balder!"

In Paris, Leftists and Rightists were momentarily united in expressions of satisfaction.

"If France lives tragic hours again," commented the Leftist newspaper L'Ouvre, "she will certainly have as the head of the great American democracy the man who will be able to do most for her."

Fascist circles in Rome welcomed the Democratic victory partly because Roosevelt is better known than Governor Landon and partly because his energetic action has been frequently applauded by Italians.

Vatican City prelates said Pope Pius was pleased with the results.

In Moscow, Soviet quarters frankly expressed approval because they said President Roosevelt was a known quantity who had shown friendship towards Russia. They voiced the belief his re-election would mean no change in Russo-American relations.

In Shanghai, Chinese political and business circles declared President Roosevelt's international policies were helpful to China and conducive to world peace.

League of Nations diplomats, at Geneva, voiced the belief President Roosevelt would wield a powerful influence for the maintenance of world peace.

In Berlin, Roosevelt's victory caused little surprise. What was interpreted here as the president's program for planned economy was regarded sympathetically as in line with similar movements of various European powers.

In Tokyo, foreign office circles welcomed the re-election of President Roosevelt, declaring they believe it would favorably affect Japanese-American relations.

In South America, a consensus of newspaper editors, the president's return to the White House was desired by Latin-Americans because under the Roosevelt regime the "good neighbor" policy had apparently been made permanent and the reciprocity trade program expanded.

Urges Increase In Trade

Hon. J. L. Hiley Hopes For Extension Of War With Britain

Liverpool.—Hopes for increased trade between Canada and Great Britain were expressed in speeches and messages at a luncheon in connection with the Imperial fruit show.

Hon. J. L. Hiley, Canadian minister of national revenue, recalled the development of the Canadian apple trade since the first fruit shipment from Halifax to Liverpool in 1849. In the shipping season 1935-36 Canada exported to the United Kingdom 1,500,000 barrels of apples and 2,500,000 boxes, or approximately 50 per cent. of the entire crop.

"My hope is that the campaign for extension of our trade with Liverpool district and our participation in the Imperial fruit show may result in trade developments beneficial to your country and ourselves and to the whole family circle of the British nations," he said.

Lord Mayor R. J. Hall said they looked upon Canada not only as one of the best customers of the port of Liverpool but as a Dominion with which they were intimately related.

Object To Long Hours

Grain Buyers In Saskatchewan Country Elevators Have Complaint

Saskatoon.—Grain buyers at country elevators, objecting to the long hours of work resulting from trucking, will seek legislation controlling the hours for taking grain into elevators, an organization recently formed intimates. These grain buyers find that grain is now hauled by commercial trucks working day and night in shifts. As a result, buyers have been kept at continuous work from 72 to 90 hours at a stretch and have been obliged to grade grain by lamp light, contrary to the Canada Grain Act.

They find that one driver hauls from the threshing machine during the day and another from the farmer's bin at night.

Celebrates Birthday

Ottawa.—Hon. Raoul Dandurand, minister without portfolio in the federal cabinet and government leader in the Senate, celebrated his 71th birthday Nov. 21st.

Another Use For Glass

Scientists Have Been Experimenting With It For Dental Use

Toronto.—A new milestone in dental history is claimed by a little group of scientists who struggled for nine years to perfect the ideal denture base.

Experimenting in a secluded corner of the dental buildings at the University of Toronto, the white-coated trio has foregone holidays and spare time to work on an idea.

Dr. Frank Lott, professor of prosthetic dentistry, unfolded to the Academy of Dentistry the advantages of glass as a base for false teeth plates. He named Dr. A. D. A. Mason, new dean of the faculty of dentistry, and Dr. Irwin Anie, professor of crown and bridge prosthesis, as co-workers in the discovery.

A chief advantage of glass for dental plates is claimed to be its permanency of color and the extremely wide color variation attainable.

For Mission Field

Young Women Graduates Of Brandon College To Engage In Foreign Work

Toronto.—Two young women graduates of Brandon college and a graduate of McMaster University will leave Toronto to work in foreign mission fields. They are Miss Clara Johnson, Edmonton, and Miss Gertrude Bonner, Toronto, who will sail for India shortly, and Miss-Sue Gilman, Regina, bound for Bolivia.

The missionaries were guests at the diamond jubilee meeting of Women's Baptist Foreign Missionary Society of Toronto West.

TRAINING SHIP TO BE BUILT FOR CANADIAN NAVY

Ottawa.—The Royal Canadian navy is going into sail. Henceforth Canadian bluejackets will be required to be more than "sea machinists."

They are to study seamanship from the bottom up, be able to handle ropes and spars, know which is the jib top and which the stays, and understand what to do when ordered to "take in a hitch."

Unperturbed by rumors of extensive construction of modern battle-ships, the naval wing of the defence department is building a schooner at Meteghen, N.B. A trim craft, this reinforcement will carry little, if any, armament—probably a couple of two-pounder guns for saluting purposes. The department will employ her to resurrect within the naval personnel the forgotten art of handling a ship that is not equipped with electric bells, motor-driven winches and all the gadgets which have converted the modern man of war into a machine shop.

"It is fundamental that sailors should know how to sail," said one departmental authority here. "They should know how to work aloft; know what the wind and the sea do to a ship; and these things cannot be learned in steam."

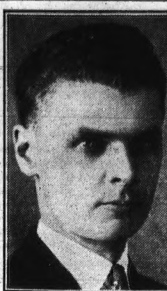

Henceforth the Royal Canadian Navy has lacked a training ship designed for instruction in the essentials of seamanship; but this is now being rectified.

SUCCEEDS DR. ANDERSON

J. G. Diefenbaker K.C., of Prince Albert, who has been selected as leader of the Saskatchewan Conservative party in succession to Dr. J. T. M. Anderson. He is a native of Grey County, Ont., but has lived in the West since childhood.

Ice Blocks Supply Ship

Goldfields Residents Will Have To Wait For Air Transport

Regina.—Menaced by river ice, the Hudson Bay Company ship "Pelly Lake," carrying supplies to Goldfields on Lake Athabasca, has been forced to turn back, and Goldfields residents will be without additional supplies until air transportation is reopened.

It is expected that air transport will be resumed within two weeks. The town will be faced with shortages of some commodities, and extreme rationing measures are possible.

Word of the failure of the ship to get through reached Hon. T. C. Davis, K.C., attorney-general, by wire. Northern waters are reported freezing over quickly, and it will be impossible to attempt to get through by boat until spring.

Aviation Inspector Dies

Howard C. Ingram Succumbs In Regina Hospital

Regina.—Howard C. Ingram, 39, inspector of civil aviation in the west, died in the General Hospital from a heart condition, septic endocarditis, bringing to a close a career long associated with prairie aviation. Identified mostly with Moose Jaw, he lived variously in Regina and Edmonton, but his work took him by air to all points in Saskatchewan and Alberta.

Mr. Ingram had been ill only a few days, when he collapsed and was taken to hospital.

Howard Ingram is survived by his widow and one daughter; by his father, George C. Ingram, and a brother, George L., both of Regina.

Call For Volunteers

Recruiting In England Met With Shower Of Pacifist Pamphlets

London.—A shower of pacifist pamphlets interrupted a call for army volunteers by War Secretary Alfred Duff Cooper in the Wimbledon town hall.

Duff Cooper's speech at the presentation of a prize to the Fifth Battalion, East Surrey Regiment, was almost drowned by heckling from the galleries. Pacifist pamphlets were thrown down on the audience and distributed at the door.

Transient Tells Story

Rides In Sealed Freight Car From Vancouver To Toronto

Toronto.—Joe Moore, 28-year-old transient, who survived a one-week ordeal of being sealed in a refrigerator car, was well enough at Western hospital to tell his story.

Moore said he had climbed into the freight car on a Vancouver dock to sleep. When he awoke, the car was sealed and headed he knew not where. With nothing to drink and only green peanuts to munch, cold and hunger overcame him before the journey ended in Toronto.

He was found in the freight car when the car was unsealed at a siding here prior to removing its cargo of peanuts.

Moore said he had no relatives in Canada, having come from Poland several years ago. During the summer he had worked as a farm hand at Dauphin, Man.

He had been in a Winnipeg hospital until recently, jumping a freight car for Vancouver the day he was released. Having no money when he arrived at the Pacific coast city, he climbed into a freight car on the wharves and went to sleep.

Sets Precedent

Woman Member Moves Address Thanking King For Speech From Throne

London.—Miss Florence Horburgh, senior member for Dundee and a Conservative, made history when she moved the address thanking the king for his speech from the throne. It was the first time this task had been entrusted to a woman.

Miss Horburgh wore a brown evening dress. She appeared remarkably self-composed as she dealt in detail with the speech.

She was warmly applauded, particularly when, speaking for the women of Great Britain, she said:

"If ever the time comes again when women wait and men fight, one great suffering we demand we shall not undergo, namely, that human lives should be sacrificed because due preparation was neglected."

Canadian Growers Win

Victorious In Apple Exhibits At Imperial Fruit Show

Ottawa.—Nova Scotia and British Columbia growers were victorious in 13 classes of apple exhibits at the Imperial Fruit Show held at Liverpool, Eng., according to the prize list received by the department of agriculture. Besides the 13 first prizes, growers from the coastal provinces secured second and third prizes in Ontario and Quebec, where a large volume of apples is also grown for export, did not compete.

INTRODUCE BILL FOR PERMISSION OF MERCY DEATHS

London.—A "mercy death" bill to permit medical men to kill incurable patients was introduced in parliament.

It was presented by Lord Ponsonby, climbing a year's campaign by many medical and church leaders for euthanasia—their term for "easy death."

It would enable physicians and surgeons legally to put to death patients suffering great pain from conditions diagnosed as hopeless.

For almost a year there has been growing controversy in Britain over "mercy deaths." Advocates have included some of the highest medical authorities of the realm who organized a "euthanasia society."

Opposition was voiced universally by leaders of the Roman Catholic church.

Reaction was more sharply divided over the London Daily Mail's account, on Nov. 7, 1935, of a physician's "confession" of five "mercy deaths."

The newspaper, which described the doctor as "a kindly-faced, elderly family doctor," said he told of having put to death a newly-born baby "doomed to imbecility," and four adults suffering incurable diseases.

Agitation for legalized "mercy deaths" soon became widespread, under the leadership of the late Lord Moynehan.

Dean Inge, former dean of St. Paul's, led English churchmen supporting Lord Moynehan.

The strongest opposition came from high Catholic churchmen.

"We have no right to take over people's lives," said Dr. Peter Amigo, Catholic bishop of Southwark, South London diocese, "in my view it is good to suffer purgatory on this earth."

BELIEVE DAY OF THE BATTLESHIP IS NOT YET OVER

London.—The battleship versus bomber controversy remains basically unsettled, according to the report of a subcommittee on Imperial defence published recently.

The report emphasizes the necessity of further exhaustive experiments but says that on the basis of present knowledge the battleship appears an essential part of a navy operating on the high seas.

The sub-committee consisted of Sir Thomas Inskip, minister for co-ordination of defence; Viscount Halifax, lord privy seal; Malcolm MacDonald, dominions secretary; and Walter Runciman, president of the board of trade.

The admiralty does not claim battleships are invulnerable to air attack, says the report, but that modern improvements in the protection of anti-aircraft gunnery make them at least no more vulnerable to bombing than to gunfire. Value of anti-aircraft fire, however, is most difficult to estimate on the basis of present experiments and further trials are necessary.

It is estimated the capital cost and upkeep of a battleship over its normal life is equivalent to that of 43 medium bombing planes. The report draws attention to the necessity of protecting naval bases against concentrated air attack.

A summing up of information available at present leads the subcommittee to believe the day of the battleship is not over and that to cease building them would lead to grave risk of disaster.

U.S. Unemployment

Believe Roosevelt Will Attack Problem Along N.R.A. Lines

Washington.—Late returns emphasizing the epochal endorsement of Roosevelt policies at the polls reinforced the opinion of many here that another attack on the United States unemployment problem along N.R.A. lines is in prospect.

How soon the move may come, what form it may take and the possible effects on party alignments were foremost topics in ranks both for and against the administration as the president's re-election plurality approached 10,000,000. Praising his triumphant return to the capital, officials were reluctant to discuss the probable program for publication. But data was being accumulated for Roosevelt's consideration in drafting his message to the opening of congress and his inaugural address on Jan. 20.

Inquirers were referred to his campaign speeches and the Democratic platform for light on what he might say.

It was recalled he praised N.R.A. as an instrument of progress. While calling the emergency over, he was clearly mindful of the heavy relief burden and the necessity for reducing the ranks of an estimated 11,000,000 unemployed if the budget-balancing he promised was to be realized.

The Democratic platform "pledged to seek a 'clarifying amendment' to the constitution, unless ways could be found to handle wage and hour problems and 'unbusiness practices' within the constitution as it stands."

Cause Of Death Unknown

Toronto.—Thomas P. Moss, Toronto student at Oxford University, whose burned body was found in a hayrack near Bath, England, several months ago, left an estate of $13,807. It was learned here, British police were unable to determine whether Moss died accidentally or was victim of foul play. The estate was left to his mother.

Appointed Chief Justice

Ottawa.—Mr. Justice C. R. Mitchell of the appellate division of the Supreme Court of Alberta, has been appointed chief justice of that division, succeeding Chief Justice W. C. Simons, who is retiring. Announcement of the promotion was made by Hon. Ernest Lapointe, minister of justice.

Shingle Mill Destroyed

Vancouver.—The northside mill of the Burrish Shingle Co., was a mass of charred ruins following a night fire which also burned down two 30,000-volt power circuits, cutting off electric power lines to North and West Vancouver and Howe Sound settlements for more than eight hours.

CONSISTENCY IN

DEBT PROCEDURE

If interest collecting in unethical, wrong and even sinful on the part of a Christian church, the Anglican denomination is not the only one to suffer under that condemnation. It seems that the premier has never denied that the funds of the religious organization he headed in Calgary were loaned to a radio station on a mortgage the interest charge being given one per cent. To demand that rate of interest during a depression seems to be asking for all the trouble would bear. What if the debtor had, in that instance, pleaded "forgive us our debts as we forgive our debtors?"

The government of Alberta, too, should not be in the interest business if it is such a nefarious thing. But it is noticeable that the act reducing interest does not apply to debts owed to the province. It is said that the province is a creditor to the extent of some thirteen millions of dollars. Surely it cannot expect to enforce interest charges on a certain scale on this indebtedness, and on a different scale on other indebtedness? What about the interest and other penalties added on delinquent taxes? Is it ethical to insist on payment of these at full rate?

There should be a measure of consistency in this debt adjustment business if it is to be undertaken on broad comprehensive lines.—Hanna Herald.

A LAY SERMON

Text: "No man has to look very far to find fault."

My brethren: Have you looked at all? If you have not, just consult the dresser mirror when you adjust your cravat in the morning, or maybe when you do the same thing this evening. If the text doesn't hold good on this direct personal application, then you are too good for this wicked world and should don robes of white and wait for the sound of archangel Gabriel's trumpet. If the text does hold good then you must turn missionary and begin a campaign against the evil that is in you. No man has to look very far to find fault.

Our neighbors are full of faults. We see them every time we look their way, morning, noon and night. Their faults stand out in glaring contrast with those of our own. Theirs are like mountains, ours like mole hills. They live wrong and they constantly do wrong. They are corrupt and contrary, socially, morally, religiously, and politically. Those on this side are selfish; those on the other side are too familiar; and there are those on either side who are patronizing and pestiferous in the extreme, and whose mode of manner of living is a positive nuisance.

No man has to look very far to find fault.

Neither is our fault-finding to be confined to our immediate localities. The whole world seems impregnated with imperfection. Even the seasons and the elements are warped and continuously disappointing. The universe is backward and upside down. No man has to look very far to find fault.

A forest fire which raged over 80,000 acres near Fernie some time ago, destroyed about 350,000,000 feet of publicly-owned timber, but only $715 was expended by the forestry department in fighting the flames.

PROPOSED CODE FOR FARMERS

As no one else seems particularly interested, The Hanna Herald presents the following code for farmers with the suggestion that it be incorporated in the new Code Legislation of the province of Alberta.

In view of the number of codes already drawn up and put into effect, it is time that farmers should be included in this protective idea. We have yet to hear a valid reason why this should not be done.

Code for Farmers and Their Families
A farmer must be a skilled man at his labor and examinations will be held at various points in the province to test the ability of applicants. If there are any who do not pass the tests they must quit farming. There are plenty enough of good farmers to carry on without the profession being cluttered up with poor ones.

Once a farmer is accepted as A-1 he is furnished with a card and a registration number and also a license to be affixed to his front gate. Fee, $1.00. Farmers who haven't licenses cannot do business, cultivate land or assume ownership or rental rights on land.

Hours of labor.—Farmers are restricted to 50 hours of labor a week, consisting of six days of eight hours each and 2 hours on Sunday to milk cows, feed and water stock and do other incidental chores which must of necessity be done.

Farmers' wives are restricted to 2 hours farm work per day, for four days a week, outside of household duties. Farm children under 14 must not be employed in farm work.

The pay of the farmer is to be 30 cents an hour for eight hours a day, time and a half for overtime and double time on Sundays. The pay for the farmer's wife is to be 25c an hour for looking after poultry, gardening and dairying. For bringing in feed and water 50c an hour. (The farmer, however, should do this himself). No overtime allowed for farm women.

Farmers' children over 14 required to work in the fields or milking, feeding stock, aiding in garden, etc., 15c an hour, time and a half for overtime. Hired men are to get $35 a month for eight-hour day, six days a week, and all found.

Farm prices will be fixed from time to time by a board appointed for the purpose by the provincial government. The minimum prices must, however, be based on the following:

Wheat per bushel	$1.30
Oats per bushel	.65
Barley per bushel	.90
Cattle, live weight, choice per lb.	.10
Hogs, bacon basis per pound	.12
Wool, per lb.	.25
Turkeys, per lb.	.30
Hens, per lb.	.25
Milk, Raw	.09
Butter, per lb.	.30
Eggs per doz.	.25

Other minimum prices will be set up and lists furnished all farmers and all commission and merchandising establishments.

Payment up to the minimum list aforementioned must be in law money of Canada, but any excess payment over the minimum may be made in Prosperity bonds or some such material.

Non-interest bearing loans will be advanced to farmers who are accredited and have A-1 certificates, to build decent homes and suitable barns, stables, machine sheds, etc. Also to furnish the homes properly and to install electricity, water systems, radios, etc. These loans will be repayable over 50 years.

Any accredited farmer who breaks any of the provisions of the code will lose his license to farm and be cast into outer darkness, where there will be weeping and wailing and gnashing of teeth.—Hanna Herald.

During Macleod's three-day shopping festival, prizes are offered for the biggest egg, biggest potato, largest family, family coming from longest distance, funniest face, longest tongue, tallest man, best proofreader, oldest automobile, oldest Ford car, best Bennett buggy, etc.

BONDHOLDERS ARE PEOPLE

It is a favorite myth in some quarters that the slashing away of interest charges hurts chiefly the "big fellows" who are able to stand it. The Financial Post's published list of Alberta bondholders is therefore instructive reading. It shows that the Toronto police and firemen's pension funds have $50,000 tied up in Alberta bonds. Hamilton's firemen's benefit has $70,000, from which the Aberhart government's defalcations will cut off $1,400 yearly income. Aging civic pensioners in Ottawa will get $1,675 less to divide among themselves each year because Alberta, which has been shown to be capable of meeting her obligations, refuses to do so. "Superannuated ministers and widows o. ministers will very seriously feel the pinch in as much as the United Church of Canada trusted Alberta by investing a substantial amount of its pension fund in that province's bonds.

The bulked savings of citizens, which are represented in municipal sinking funds, are also affected. Vancouver is caught with $1,190,000 of Alberta bonds, on which there will be a loss of $26,722 each year. Mayor McGeer, who is a bit of a monetary reformer himself, may do well to take note of this. Ottawa has $555,000 invested, and her taxpayers will lose $13,475 yearly, according to the Financial Post's estimate. Fort William's citizens are involved to the extent of $375,000; Port Arthur's have $222,000 invested in Alberta. Winnipeg sinking fund trustees are in the position of having to go before their school teachers and others with the statement that over $1,400,000, some of it for civic pensions upon which the income is already inadequate, is in threat to the peculiar notions of probity which at present seem to possess the government of the most Western prairie province.

All across Canada, poor people, who were beginning to hope that better times were arriving, are now confronted by this new and unnecessary debacle of a solvent province refusing to pay its debts. North Battleford, Saskatchewan, has twenty per cent, or $99,000 of its sinking fund loaded with Alberta bonds; Kelowna, B.C., has $18,000; Saskatoon has $50,000. Even the citizens of Alberta's leading cities are not free from this scourge. Edmonton Public School District has more than $170,000 of the bonds and the city itself is owed for $300,000. As for Calgary, one-quarter of the police and firemen's funds, and $900,000 general investments are in bonds, guaranteed securities or savings certificates of Alberta.

The myth of the "big fellows" being the ones who principally suffer from defalcations lies hard. But it is indeed only a myth. For the obvious truth is that government and municipal

The newspaper fraternity joins in extending sympathy to Herb McCrea, of the Hanna Herald, in his long struggle for recovery of health. Last week Mr. McCrea was obliged to have his leg amputated, but there is hope that this serious and drastic operation may prove a turning point in the battle which he has so valiantly fought.

Despite his recurring illnesses, he has never at any time lost his close association with his paper, and from his sick bed has dictated editorials, which are a standard of common sense and balanced judgment for all newspaper men. He is one of the strongest pillars of the weekly press fraternity in the province, and an unswerving friend, and it is the abiding hope of all of us that he will come out from the shadows of physical disability and pain to renewed health.—High River Times.

LIVERS NOT SLUGGISH ON PACIFIC COAST

An active liver is the sign of good disposition. It seems to work that way with halibut men on the Pacific and Atlantic coasts. A few years ago science made the discovery that halibut livers are a potent source of vitamins and other elements good for the body. Large medicinal and drug organizations immediately began to buy up all the halibut livers in sight. Back in 1934 they paid 23 cents a pound out at the Pacific and only slightly lower than that for the Atlantic product. Then demand increased, promoted a scarcity, and the price went to 36.5 cents a pound in 1935. Now the offers are around 45 cents a pound.

Last year 10,192,000 pounds of halibut were produced on the Pacific coast and the quantity of black cod was not far short of 1,000,000 pounds. continuation of the 1935 standard this year, the medicinal activity in halibut cod and halibut men, but to their of ling cod, red cod and cod. With a but livers should add much additional brothers on the Atlantic as well.

The premier says that he will put in Social Credit if it takes him five years, but Social Credit is not the answer to the question "Where are we today?" Regardless of whether one believes in Social Credit or not, the chief concern is the Province's present financial condition. If there is no money, let the people know it, and if there is a surplus piling up, let the people know it and what is going to be done about it. Business is in a precarious condition in Alberta today, and this affects everybody. The people should demand an answer to the important questions raised in this editorial.—Drumheller Review.

TRY OUR SOCIETY PRINTING

ON REMEMBRANCE DAY

(By Sydney May)

Me thought I saw a ghostly band before the Cenotaph;

And one stepped forth and raised his hand and spake in tones of wrath:

"We are the dead; this is our day; we ask of you, the living:

We gave you all; what can you say you've garnered from our giving?"

What have you reaped from our sowing?

How have you brought forth increase?

Hearts, are they thankfully glowing Because you have harvested Peace?

Does the wife, does the son, does the daughter,

Whose only reward was their grief,
Believe that the price of our slaughter

Is paid with a slip for relief?
Is the cross that your jobless are bearing

Less heavy than one known of old?
Or less grievous because it is glaring

With all the bright glitter of gold?
Were relief camps a part of the glory

We earned by the bearing of arms?
And then, did the rest of our story

Spell headlines and forced jobs on farms

With farmers whose toiling has brought them

A harvest of nothing but debt,
As the forces of mammon have caught them

Hard-fast in a strangling net?

Ah, the torch that we threw, with hands failing,

To you for a new guiding light, Must have died. In our graves we hear wailing,

As of wand'ers astray in the night.

With our blood did we water our sow-
ing,

And left you the harvest to reap;
But alas, though the poppies are blowing,

You failed us...and we cannot sleep..."

A ghostly bugle seemed to call; a ghostly drum to play;

A ghostly mist fell like a pall; the ghost men march away.

A lady resident of the Bonnyville district in apparent good health died very suddenly recently. A post mortem examination showed that she had succumbed due to asphyxia, and the cause—a single grain of wheat which had found its way to the lung. It is thought that in some manner the lady inhaled the particle of wheat.

NEW PACKING PLANT
FOR EDMONTONCanada Packers' $1,000,000 Plant
Officially Opened

The new million dollar packing house, erected last summer in Edmonton, Alberta, by Canada Packers, Limited, was officially opened on Wednesday, November 4th, by Mayor Jos.
A. Clarke K.C., in the presence of over five hundred invited guests, including members of the Alberta cabinet, deputy ministers, civic officials, heads of most of the livestock organizations of Alberta, and representatives of the wholesale and retail meat trade, and other distinguished visitors.

Speakers at the opening ceremony, which was staged in the enclosed loading platform of the plant, were Premier William Aberhart, R. A.
Wright, president of Western Canada
Livestock Union; Hon. Senator Arthur Meighen, and J. S. McLean, president of Canada Packers, Limited.

The plant is an outstanding example of what can be done in an industrial building to combine pleasing appearance with utility and efficiency. It is equipped with the most modern machinery and will have a killing capacity of 4,500 hogs weekly, besides cattle, sheep and lambs.

All speakers at the official opening ceremonies congratulated Canada Packers upon their wisdom in establishing so fine a packing plant in Alberta. Mr. McLean stated it as his conviction that Alberta, which already stands second in hog production amongst the provinces of the Dominion, will within a short time stand first. "When this expectation is realized," he said, "all the packing house facilities in Edmonton, including Canada Packers', will be less than sufficient to handle the hogs."

After the close of the opening ceremonies, the plant was thrown open to the public and was visited with interest by thousands of visitors from Edmonton and the surrounding district.

The erection of this important plant at this time is concrete evidence of the faith of Canada Packers, Limited, in the future of Alberta, and of the West generally. It also gives to the livestock producers of Western Canada further access to the markets of Eastern Canada and of Europe, which are served extensively by Canada Packers, Limited.

AN OLD STORY RETOLD
WITH VARIATION

"Well, I'm no hand at public speaking" (said the Chief) "and unaccustomed as I am to appearing in public I am overawed by the flow of oratory already turned loose in this here chamber. However, I'll tell you a story instead—'tis the story of my first important bit of police work when I was studyin' at a correspondence college to become a detectiff.

"It was a shooting case. Two men —named John Shott and Thomas Gott—became involved in a heated argument. They drew gals—and the first shot shot by Shott shot Gott.

"But the mystery occurred when Gott, although shot by Shott's shot, shot back at Shott before the shot Shott shot got Gott; the question was whether or not that shot—the shot

Shott's shot got Gott.

"The evidence produced was puzzling. It was proved by attorneys for Shott that by Gott Shott was shot, and by Gott the quarrel was begun.

"However, me and my feller detectiff went right to work, and when the jury sat on the case, they freed both Shott and Gott. They summed it up this way: 'We find that the first shot
—the shot shot by Shott at Gott—got Gott. It was the first and only shot Shott shot, because, immediately after firing that shot, the shot that got Gott, Gott shot the shot—his only shot—that got Shott. Therefore,

Shott got shot by Gott and Gott got the shot Shott shot.

"And after the trial, the jurymen sitting on the case of Shott vs. Gott, got shot. By Gott they were not shot, nor were they shot by Shott—still they were shot, badly shot—and meeting both Gott and Shott, they gave them each a shot—until they, like the jurymen, were shot. In other words, Shott was shot, and Gott was shot—in fact, they were all shot.

"And the question we police had to unravel was: 'Who got shot?'"

"If you ask me that 'question' (wheezed the Mayor) 'I'd say you are half shot. I think this here Ontario cider is too much for your Manitoba gullets. I'll have to dilute it before the next meetin'. First thing I know, the whole dang country council will be shot.'—Pilot Mound Sentinel.

St. Andrews-by-the-Sea

The growing popularity of beautiful St. Andrews-by-the-Sea, N.B., was shown this year by the great increase of visitors during July. Privileged vacationists from all over the world spent happy days at the Bay of Fundy resort golfing, swimming, fishing, sailing, playing tennis, dancing, or just lazing in the sun
on the warm sand of Katy's Cove, sections of which are seen above in the top three pictures.

Several golf tournaments have been held already on the sporty 18-hole and 9-hole courses connected with the Algonquin Hotel, and famous golfers have pronounced the links in excellent condition for other matches that will be held before the hotel finally closes at the end of the first week in September.

The recent visit of President Roosevelt of the United States to the district has attracted great interest to his summer home at Campobello Island. Many American visitors have been at St. Andrews-by-the-Sea for the season.
Another popular spot has been the Casino, where dancing and picture shows provide entertainment.

Thou Shalt Not Love

— A NOVEL BY —
GEORGIA GRAIG

Her lips quivered. "You don't mean a home and babies?"

Michael said grimly: "That's exactly what I do mean! It should be the ideal of every man and woman. I know that it is mine! Fine sons—beautiful daughters—"

Michael, caught in a tide of emotion which he hardly understood himself, did not notice that Starr was shivering.

In imagination a parade passed before her eyes. Sturdy little men with clear gray eyes like Michael's; little girls with yellow hair like Stephanie's. A terrible pain twisted her heart. For a second she lost all consciousness of the daring role she had elected to play. The doomed Starr Ellison saw the ghost of her forbidden happiness.

In imagination, too, she was transported back to that musty, three-thousand-year-old tomb with its damp, bright-painted walls, and the voice of John Leasing was droning the curses of the Amen-Ra.

"Thou—and thy children—and thy children's children—"

With a tremendous effort, of will she shook herself free of her morbid memories. She could not afford to remember. There was Starr Ellison, who was cursed—doomed. It was the soulless "Play-Girl" who laughed into Michael's face.

"Haasaa—how quaint! You do belong in an Arabian Night's tale, don't you? Girls don't have babies these days, do they?"

"I guess your kind don't!"

A spell was snapped. The battle was on again. Drawn daggers flashed. Michael said scathingly:

"I'm a fool—a double-dyed fool! I was trying to talk to you in a language you don't understand! I should talk you for what you are, just like every other man who accepts your careless favors! Perhaps, after all, I was right in the first place, and that is the language you understand better—it certainly must be more familiar to you!"

He pulled his car up to the curb before her apartment house so suddenly that Starr was almost jolted out of her seat. Incessantly she awaited a little toward him. His hand went out to aid her—and instead he caught her into an embrace so savage that it hurt her. His arms held her crushingly while his kisses rained on her ice-cold face, wiped the mockery from her scarlet mouth. They were the rough, hard, ruthless kisses of a man who wanted to hurt the one he holds in his arms, but even so, in the depths of her subconsciousness Starr was afloat in a warm sea of unknown, strange delight. Kisses—Michael's kisses, which bruised heart as well as lips.

Breathless, she pulled away, staring at him in fright from the deep pools of her dark eyes. She did not speak. Nor did Michael.

With a swift gesture Starr opened the door and slipped from the car. Instantly Michael's foot was on the starter, the car roared at his touch on the accelerator, and he rounded the corner and was out of sight before Starr could catch her breath. As she stepped into the elevator and felt it shoot skyward, she felt that all her courage, too, was synthetic as herself. It was cooing away in an ebb of terror. How was she ever going to stand the bitterness of it? Six months now seemed an eternity!

CHAPTER IX.

Starr came from her rose-hued, lotus-scented bath. Her skin was flushed from her brisk treading, but she felt cold inside. Cold with the remembrance of Michael's kisses.

Other men had kissed "Play-Girl." That was to be expected. How could she help it, with her reputation? That was all part of the stage props. Lance had kissed her, Tod Ronger—others. But none of them had ever inspired her with the intense feeling that Michael's kisses did. The deep thrill that had shaken her body, making her blood race along like fire, was something she had never imagined.

She sat down before her triple mirrors over her lace-draped dressing table, drawing a filmy negligee about herself. She had allowed herself barely enough time to dress for Tod's party, the wayside did that. The only life possible for her was continual rushing from one party to another, from one thrill to another, from one man to another! Michael had made that possible in making her "Play-Girl" and ever since her first appearance as the author of the notorious book, there had been no lack of invitations. Society, the madly-rushing, heedless, decadent younger set, had opened arms to her. She went everywhere; life was a whirl. Which was what she wanted it to be.

She was afraid to be alone, afraid of the solitude of her own thoughts. So she sought forgetfulness, crowding into her days and nights a world of synthetic emotions, in a feverish attempt to recompense her real self, not the synthetic one she had become, for the one genuine emotion which must be denied. Love!

In the set to which Michael and the Tarrance Publishing Company had introduced her they played; they danced; they kissed; they made violent love which was not love at all. They did not truly love—any of them. And though she was capable of it, she must not.

She pressed her fingers against her throbbing temples, the deadly weariness that she always felt in these quiet, frightening moments dragging at her limbs again. How long could she keep it up? Michael had sensed and spoken more truly than he knew. Lance was becoming more and more difficult to handle. He wanted more than kisses. And how there was Michael... Michael? She dared not think of Michael.

"Thou Shalt Not Love," was to Starr as real a command as though it blazed before her eyes in words of fire.

Her comfortably proportioned colored serving woman's voice disturbed her thoughts.

"What-all's the matter, Miss Starr?" the woman wanted to know. "Is somebody done hurt your feelin's? You look so all kind o' tuckered out and like you didn't care for nothin'!"

Starr lifted her head to smile at the woman. She was grateful for her companionship, certain here of a loyalty she found nowhere else. Her maid's concern was real. Michael, of course, had thought Starr should have an Arab woman, to be in keeping with the rest of her lay-out; but they had compromised on a negress who looked like a blackamoor. She was from North Carolina and her name was Sapphira, enough like the Arabic Saffiyeh, if it came to that, to suit anybody. She cared not at all about being a synthetic Arab, but she did care—and boasted of it continuously in Harlem—about the collection of silver bangles and bright-headed headress she was allowed to wear, instead of the usual uniform other colored maids had to assume. She did not care so much for the muharabiyeh windows. They made it a bit hard to see what was going on in the world, and Miss Starr was always gadding off some place.

Starr told Sapphira: "No, nobody's hurt my feelings. I've just got a good case of the heebie-jeebies, I guess, Sapphira. Life seems to be a useless sort of thing."

The colored woman shook her head. "What I 'spects, Miss Starr, is that you-all are burnin' your candle both ends too much. What you need is to fall plumb in love with Jes' one of these men that's rummin' after you so much, an' git married. . . . That's what. . . ."

Bread From Southern Rhodesia

Sent To London And Arrived In Good Condition

J. C. Kirkwood, in Marketing, says if Southern Rhodesia can do it Canada can do it better—fly bread to Great Britain. Adam Adams, a good name for any man—sent loaves of bread from Bulawayo by aeroplane—5,000 miles—to have it put into competition with the bread of British bakers at the annual Bakers and Confectioners' Exhibition in London. This Rhodesian bread arrived in such fine condition that it was given honorable mention by the judges—with 10,000 competitors, and with only three British bakers ahead of him. Some day we may have pneumatic tubes to Britain—and pipelines for milk.

Little Helps For This Week

Thou shalt guide me with Thy counsel, and afterwards receive me to glory. Psalm 73:24.

Guide us through life, and when we enter into rest, Thy tender arms around us cast, And fold us to Thy breast.

Go forth to conquer the trials of existence believing in a Shepherd of your souls. Then faith in Him will support you in duty, and duty firmly done will strengthen faith. Then when the strife of the earthly battle fades and you hear instead the musical sound of the ocean of eternity, your faith will raise the song of conquest, and its forward glance upon the life to come will take up the inspiration of the Hebrew king. "Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life, and I will dwell in the house of the Lord forever."

British Emergency Force In Palestine Housed In Hotel

One half of the King David Hotel, Jerusalem, has been chosen as headquarters for the British emergency force in Palestine.

General John Dill, who has a 4,500 ransom on his head, occupies the second floor, which is shared by his officers. The third floor is taken up by the R.A.F. headquarters, while the Army headquarters is on the fourth floor.

The winter garden is now the officers' mess, and the canteen for the men is on the mezzanine.

The rest of the hotel is still open to visitors, who notice nothing unusual, because the authorities use a private entrance, and the orchestra and dance band still play daily as usual.—London Daily Sketch.
